LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

To Whom It May Concern

I am proud to write this letter of recommendation for my student Mr. Rakesh Nagaraju, whom I have known for four years (from 2012-2016) during his course of Engineering at Nitte Meenakshi Institute of Technology. As a teacher, during 6th semester, I have taught the subject of Java and J2EE. He has always showed keen interest in Programming and it was a pleasure having him in my class.

As a student, he was always regular with his classroom assignments and his curiosity and constant habit of asking questions has benefited everyone during the class. Rakesh is very focused in his studies and has a great sense of responsibility. He is also highly self motivated.

He was always attentive in class and has maintained good conduct during the 4 years of his Bachelor studies with his peers. He has a high level of confidence, and is capable of independent thinking. His ability to analyze and interpret complex analytical problems has proved to be his strengths.

He presents himself in a very gentle manner and is calm when facing the challenges that come his way. His academic aptitude and intelligence, combined with management skills that he has demonstrated during his college fest and during the course of study deserves a special mention. Having known him for the past four years I can state that he has always had the appetite for graduate studies. It would give me great pleasure if he's admitted into the graduate program at your esteemed University. I am sure he will be a value addition to the program at your University.

If you require any further information, kindly feel free to contact me.
